Basic block:
- a sequence of instructions that always executes from the start to the end as a single path
- only the first instruction may be the successor of another block