Professional Employment Experience

- Professor, Dep't of Theory and Policy Studies, Ontario Institute for Studies in Education of the University of Toronto (on a half-time basis) since July, 2002.
- From 1997 to 2002, Director of the Hong Kong Institute of Education (HKIEd), a publicly funded tertiary institution for teachers, established by the merger of five local teachers colleges in 1994, with a new campus in HK's New Territories and a budget of about 800 million HK dollars per annum. This was a challenging leadership position in a cross-cultural setting, with a staff of 400 academics and about 650 administrative staff. Over the five years 12 new degree and postgraduate programs received internationally recognised accreditation and the Institute gained respect and stature in the HK community.
- From 1986 to 1997, served as assistant professor, associate (1988) and full professor (1990) at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, a graduate school affiliated with the University of Toronto. From 1994 to 1996, served as chair of the Higher Education Department, and from 1996 to 1997 as Associate Dean, after a merger with the University of Toronto in July of 1996.
- From 1989 to 1991 served as First Secretary for Culture, Education and Science at the Canadian Embassy in Beijing, on secondment from the University of Toronto. This was over the difficult two years following the Tiananmen Square tragedy, and involved active cultural and academic diplomacy in many regions of China and links across Canada.
- From 1980 to 1982 served as a Foreign Expert, teaching English literature, Western Classical Literature and Journalistic English at Fudan University in Shanghai to the remarkable classes of students enrolled immediately after the Cultural Revolution.
- From 1967 to 1978 served as a secondary school teacher in Heep Yunn School, an Anglican Girls School, Hong Kong.
